

ELAINE BRAUN

I just retired to Nashville Tennessee! I started out as a school teacher for music, then went into college teaching (horn), and then into the orchestra business as an administrator. I had played right along in orchestras and bands, sang in local choirs and recently have become somewhat of a conductor. Since moving to Nashville, I haven't had time to discover a place to play or sing here yet, but hope to eventually find places to do both. I still have vivid memories of my time in Cape Town - I loved every minute. The Horn is one of the most noble mediums for expressing oneself.
